Performance Season

How exciting, the performance season is soon to begin! Please make sure you are making an extra effort to make it to practice each week. We are a team and it does affect the rest of the group when one dancer is missing.

Many of our performance venues will charge admissions for spectators. I will try my best to send home notes when I become aware of the admission that will be charged.

Please check the website periodically for specific information on admission fees to performances as well as arrival times.
